OF VETERANS AFFAIRS

DISABLED VETS, GET INVOLVED!

California offers a wealth of opportunities for disabled veterans to participate in recreational activities from surfing to a day of fishing, there are activities for disabled veterans and opportunities for volunteers who want to be involved in providing these events and experiences for veterans. Many of these programs use sports and recreation to enhance the rehabilitation of injured service members and veterans.

U.S. PARALYMPIC SPORTS

U.S. Paralympics Sports (USPS) connects communities and organizations that provide sports and recreation opportunities for people with physical and visual disabilities, with an emphasis on youth, injured service members and veterans. It's about putting people and resources together – all across America.

USPS works with Paralympic athletes to give them the training, support, and preparation they need to compete in the Paralympic Games, the second largest sporting event in the world, after the Olympic Games. The organization sponsors camps and competitions, all designed to prepare them for their moment on the world stage.

The U.S. Olympic Committee's Paralympic Military & Veteran programs use sports to enhance the rehabilitation of injured service members and veterans. While still on active duty, military men and women can access Paralympic sport programs at medical treatment facilities and Warrior Transition Units at different installations across the country. USPS provides the training and expertise needed to implement activities that can be adapted for wounded, ill and injured service members.

When veterans return home, USPS works to connect them to ongoing programs in their communities so they can continue to lead healthy, active lives along with their family members and friends.

USPS athletes show the world the power of what's possible. As Paralympic Ambassadors, these athletes serve as role models and mentors to youth, veterans with disabilities, injured servicemen and women and others in communities across the country. The athletes are inspiring all Americans with their stories of perseverance and creating global awareness for the importance of health and wellness for people with physical and visual disabilities.

At USPS, it's not just about sporting events. It's about using sports to inspire possibilities, because once a person with a disability believes he or she can play volleyball, or swim, or run, it's a small step to believing they can do every day things as well—the things they may have once seen as impossible.

KAYAK FISHING

Heroes on the Water helps wounded warriors relax, rehabilitate, and reintegrate through kayak fishing and the outdoors.

Guided kayak fishing excursions, which include adaptive kayaks and equipment as needed, give injured troops an opportunity to hang out with other fisherman, take control of their world from the helm of their kayak, and learn the ropes of kayak fishing—a skill that lasts a lifetime. Kayak fishing is therapeutic for anyone, but particularly for military personnel recovering from injuries and trauma. The mission is to give these heroes a chance to enjoy a challenging outdoor sport that allows them to decompress from the stresses related to combat and from the physical and mental rigors of rehabilitation and join the kayak fishing band of brothers.

2013 NATIONAL VETERANS SUMMER SPORTS

The State will host the National Veterans Summer Sports Clinic, September 15 – 20, 2013, in San Diego. The NVSSC program (NVSSC) gives veterans with disabilities an opportunity for self-development and challenge through education and recreational activities.

According to VA, “The Summer Sports Clinic offers adventure sports and recreational activities such as sailing, surfing, track and field events, kayaking and cycling (hand and tandem), to those who were recently injured. Complementing the therapy provided in daily rehabilitation programs, the Clinic shares a glimpse of the many exciting recreational opportunities awaiting those veterans who accept the challenge. With the variety of water and summer sports available at the Clinic, this week-long journey hosts veterans from all over the country who have a variety of injuries, ranging from traumatic brain injury and poly-trauma, to spinal cord injury or loss of limb. Its fundamental purpose is to provide early intervention for veterans battling back from injury, not only strengthening their bodies but overcoming and improving their overall being and self-worth.”

For more information, visit www.sandiego.va.gov/ssc/asp.

To register, contact Tristan Heaton, (858) 642-6426, Tristan.Heaton2@va.gov or Marcela Appelhanz, (858) 642-3658, Marcela.Appelhanz@va.gov.

We are blessed to live in California—surf in the morning, snowboard in the afternoon. These activities are out there for everyone. Some of the programs listed have a cost but veterans' scholarships are often available. So get involved. Volunteers, trainers, sponsors, and participants are always welcome.

We know that all California programs are not included in this booklet, and we are anxious to include those we've missed. If you know of a program that was not included, please contact CalVet at pao@calvet.ca.gov.

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs maintains an easily searchable database of sports clubs that are there to assist veterans with special needs. Go to www.va.gov/adaptivesports/va_clubFinder.asp.
